“Seafarers UK has proudly supported the international work of The Mission to Seafarers for many years and we’re pleased to continue this support. The Mission continually innovates and responds to the needs of international seafarers struggling amidst the COVID-19 pandemic. Our grant funding of £114,000 encompasses a wide range of Mission to Seafarers support for seafarers – from the new digital chaplaincy service to providing food to seafaring families in India and creating COVID-secure seafarer centres for future use. Seafarers are at the heart of everything the Mission does, and they listen to those they support, using that knowledge to deliver meaningful support. Seafarers UK trusts our delivery partners with grants for core costs, learning from their expertise and judgement to jointly develop services which meet the needs of seafarers.”

Catherine Spencer,
Chief Executive for Seafarers UK

“Since its inception, the Grimaldi Foundation took a stand for maritime sector workers and their families, knowing how difficult life can be out at sea. We spent around €1.3m for over 50 projects in this field, and today we are pleased to be able to provide support to The Mission to Seafarers campaign for seafarer relief, in this challenging era for these international maritime workers worldwide.”

Luca Marciani,
Director for Grimaldi Foundation

“I just felt that telling my experience to the Mission to Seafarers would alleviate my depression or anxiety I am sometimes experiencing. I know I can trust you guys ‘coz every time I go to the mission centres it was so relaxing and refreshes my spirit,”

John,
